CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The Cyprus Rectors' Conference is pleased to announce the Call for Abstracts for the 4th Doctoral Colloquium, scheduled for Saturday, April 5, 2025, at Frederick University.

This Colloquium offers doctoral students a valuable platform to present their work in progress, engage with peers and faculty members, and receive constructive feedback from fellow students, faculty, and visiting scholars.

The event encourages the exchange of knowledge, experiences, and best practices, fostering an environment of collaboration and support. Participants will have the chance to expand their academic networks, explore potential research collaborations, and gain insights into publishing opportunities. Faculty members will also provide valuable guidance on navigating the PhD journey successfully.

Key Details:

- The event will be held at Frederick University, in person only, with free participation.
- Doctoral students may submit their abstracts in Greek or English.
- Accepted authors will deliver a 15-minute presentation in the language of their submitted abstract.

We warmly invite doctoral students to seize this opportunity to showcase their research, connect with the academic community, and grow as researchers.
